Alice in Wonderland

'Yet you balanced an eel on the end of your nose- what made you so awfully clever?'

£350

As a duck with its eyelids, so he with his nose Trims his belt and his buttons, and turns out his toes.
£250

'Curiouser and curiouser!' cried Alice £350

'For the Duchess. An invitation from the Queen to play croquet.'

£400

The Hatter hurriedly left the court, without even waiting to put his shoes on £650

Twinkle, twinkle little bat! How I wonder what you're at!

£650

O Mouse, do you know the way out of this pool?'

£250

Once, said the Mock Turtle at last, with a deep sigh, I was a real turtle!

£650

She picked up a little bit of stick, and held it out to the puppy

£250

So they began solemnly dancing round and round Alice

£300

Still she went on growing, and as a last resource, she put one arm out of the window, and one foot up the chimney

£300

The Duchess was sitting on a three-legged stool in the middle, nursing a baby.

£550

The first thing she heard was a general chorus of ' There goes Bill!'

£250

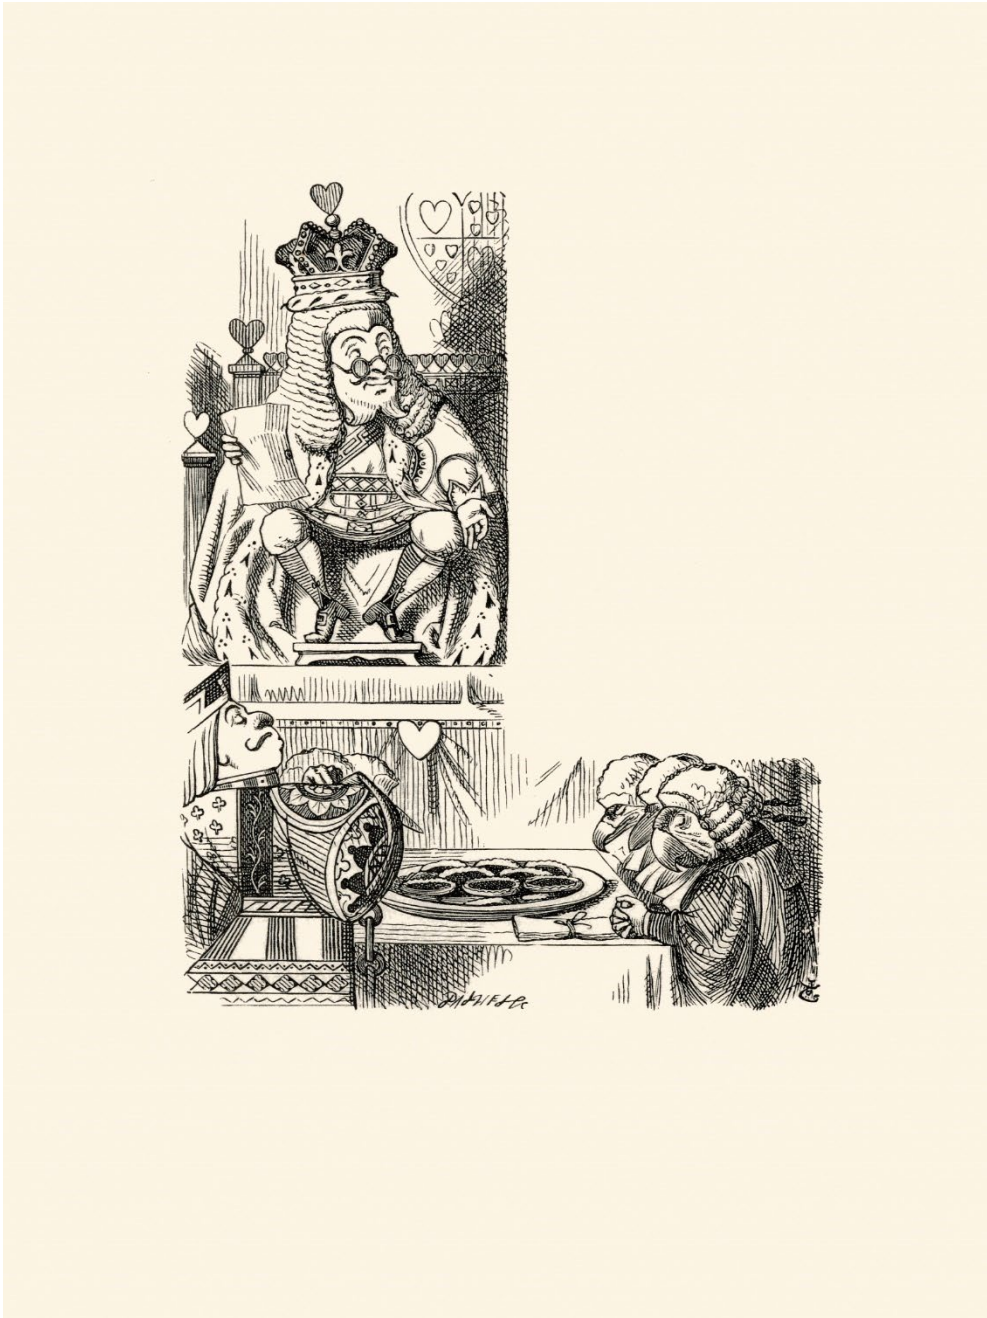

The King and Queen of Hearts were seated on their throne with a great crowd assembled about them

£450

They very soon came upon a Gryphon, lying fast asleep in the sun.

£650

Why, there they are! said the King triumphantly, pointing to the tarts on the table

£300

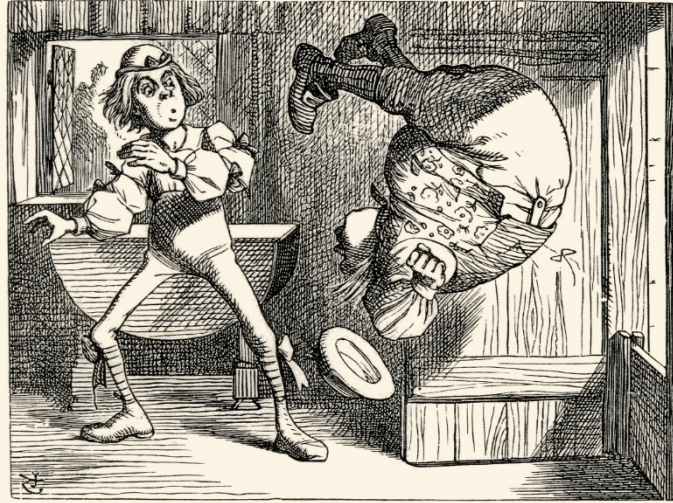

Yet you balanced an eel on the end of your nose- what made you so awfully clever?

£300

Yet you finished the goose, with the bones and the beak - Pray, how did you manage to do it?

£250

Yet you turned a back- somersault in at the door - Pray, what is the reason of that?

£350

Oh! dear! Oh dear! I shall be too late!

Through The Looking Glass

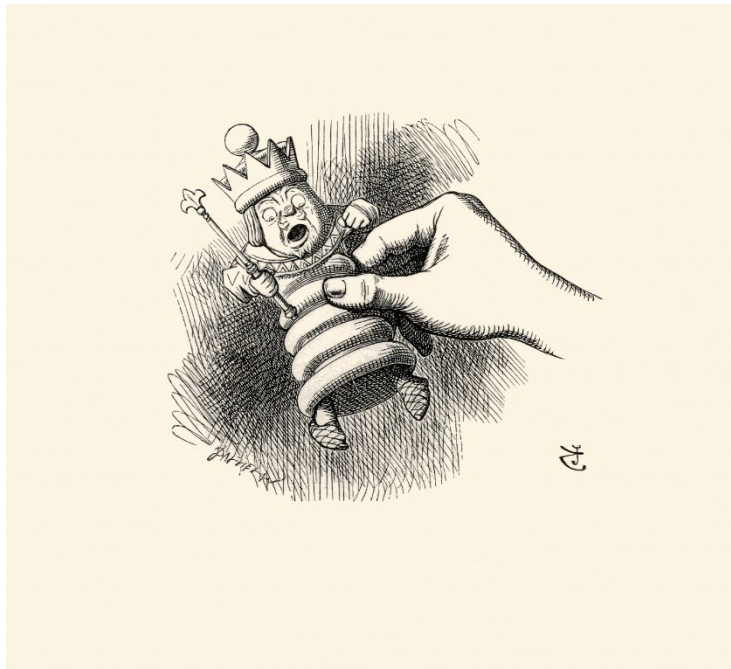

And he grinned almost from ear to ear, as he leant forwards...and offered Alice his hand.

£550

He had a tall red night-cap on, with a tassel, and he was lying crumpled up into a sort of untidy heap, and snoring loud...

£250

he was far too much astonished to cry out, but his eyes and his mouth went on getting larger and larger...

£400

He's in prison now, being punished...

£300

I feel faint - Give me a ham sandwich!'

£400

I knew it was!' cried Tweedledum, beginning to stamp about wildly and tear his hair

£300

I said it very loud and clear; I went and shouted in his ear.

£250

I shook him well from side to side, until his face was blue...

£250

I weep for you, the Walrus said I deeply sympathize

£550

In another moment both Queens were fast asleep, and snoring loud

£450

It can't go straight, you know, if you pin it all on one side', Alice said, as she gently put it right for her £350

Its body is made of plum-pudding, its wings of holly-leaves, and its head is a raisin burning in brandy'
£250

Its wings are thin slices of bread-and-butter, its body is a crust, and its head is a lump of sugar'

£250

Look up, speak nicely, and don't twiddle your fingers all the time

£550

Now! Now! Cried the Queen. 'Faster! Faster!'

£450

O Tiger-lily ... I wish you could talk!

£650

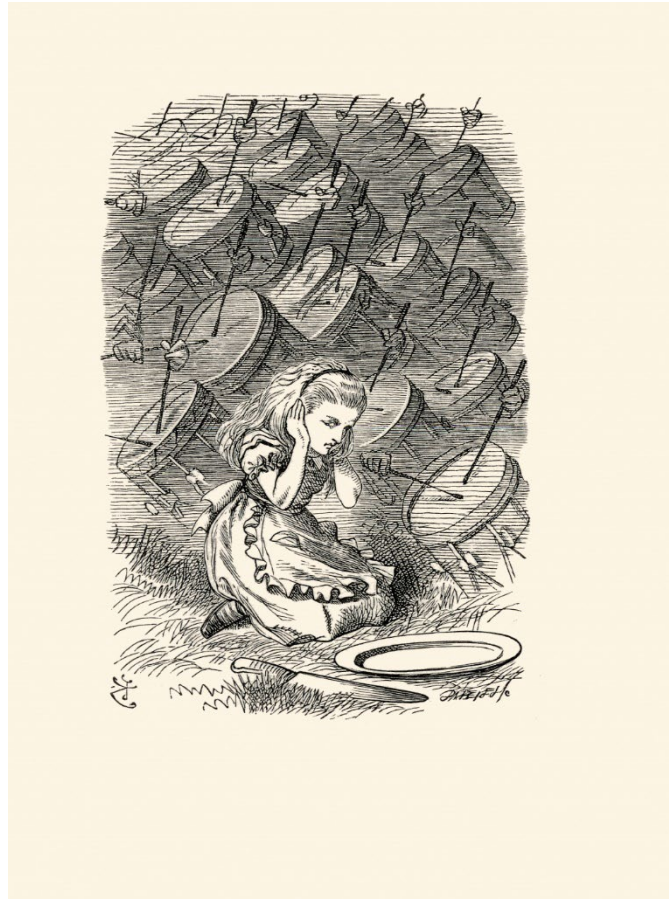

one good pull, and plates, dishes, guests, and candles came crashing down together in a heap on the floor.

£350

she didn't feel a bit surprised at finding the Red Queen and the White Queen sitting close to her...
£450

she dropped to her knees, and put her hands over her ears, vainly trying to shut out the dreadful uproar

£250

She took her off the table as she spoke, and shook her backwards and forwards with all her might £250

she was in a little dark shop, leaning with her elbows on the counter, and opposite to her was an old Sheep...

£400

Snowdrop, my pet!' she went on, looking over her shoulder at the White Kitten

£400

So they walked on together through the wood...

£400

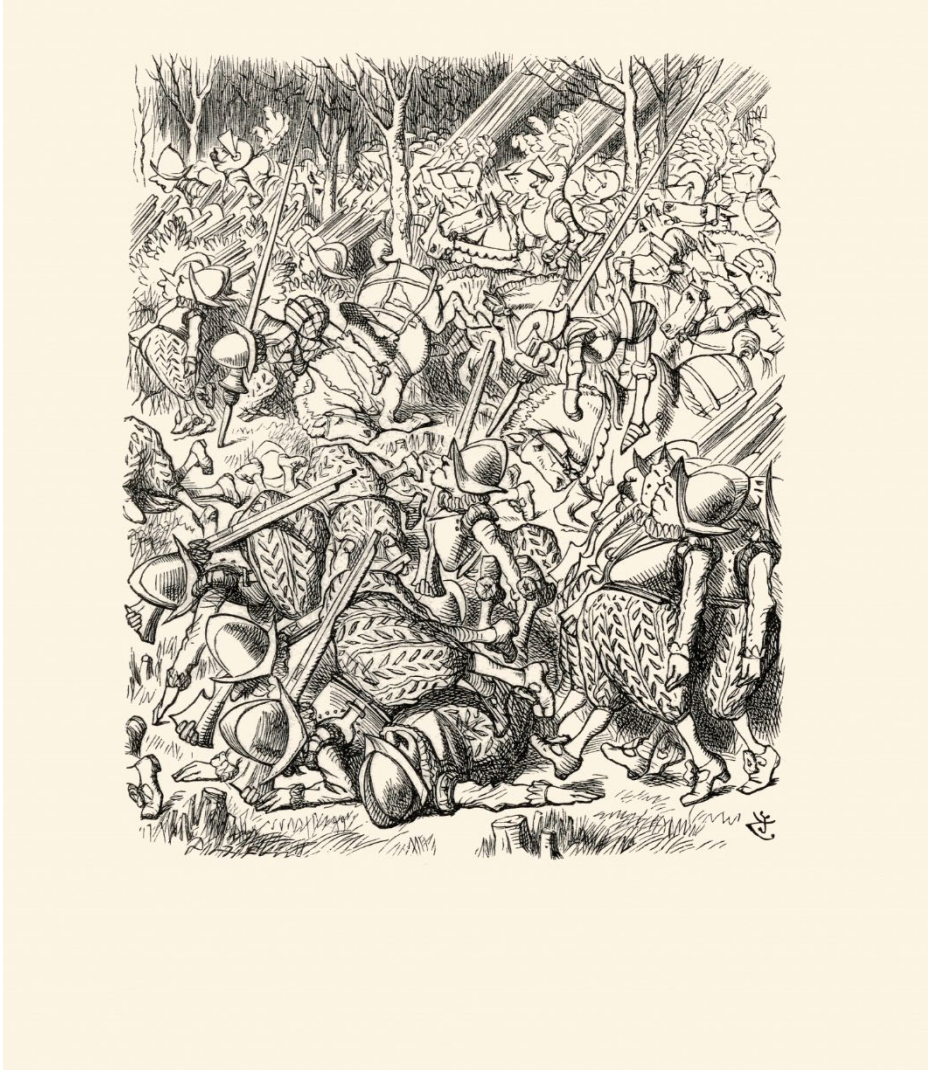

Ten minutes allowed for refreshments!

£550

The chessmen were walking about, two and two!

£300

the ground was soon covered with little heaps of men

£250

the Guard was looking at her, first through a telescope then through a microscope, and then through an opera-glass the kitten had been having a grand game of romps with the ball of worsted Alice had been trying to wind up ...

£550

£450

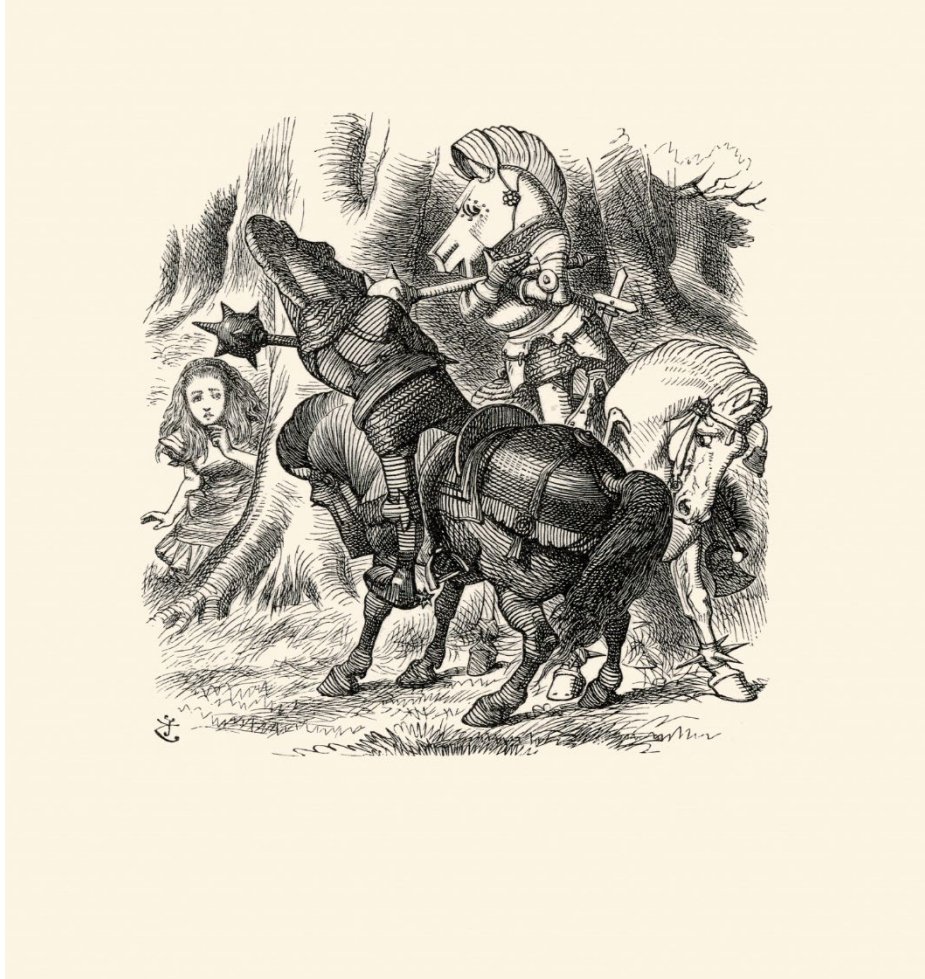

The leg of mutton got up in the dish and made a little bow to Alice...

£250

The White Knight is sliding down the poker. He balances very badly they began banging away at each other with such a fury that Alice got behind a tree...

£250

£250

They hadn't gone much farther before the blade of one of the oars got fast in the water...

£300

Whenever the horse stopped (which it did very often), he fell off in front...

£550
